

- entities E2 whose existence depends on other entities E1
- primary key of E2 contains primary key of E1
- relationship between strong and weak entity must be
 - 1:1
 - 1:N
- usually makes model hard to understand
 - only use to convey important information

▪ Examples

- Dependents of an employee (spouse, children)
- Rooms of a building

